

A husband and wife dreamed of having a baby daughter.

The wife asked the husband "Please get me lettuce from the witch's garden."

That night the husband snuck into the witch's garden and took some lettuce.

The next day, the witch was very angry. She found the man husband told him "For stealing my lettuce, I will take your first born child." The man was very scared.

One year later the husband and wife had a beautiful baby daughter.

The witch came at night and took the child. She put her in a tower far far away.

The witch named her Rapunzel. Many years later Rapunzel had grown into a beautiful young girl. She had a beautiful singing voice and very long hair

The witch would come every night and call "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, Let down your hair."

Rapunzel let down her hair and the witch climbed up into the tower.

One day a prince heard Rapunzel singing in the tower. He wanted to meet her

That night he saw the witch call to Rapunzel and heard her say "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, Let down your hair."

The next night the prince called to Rapunzel. "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, Let down your hair." and she did.

He climbed up and gave Rapunzel a rose.

The witch saw the prince leave and she was very angry.

The witch cut off Rapunzel's hair.

And magically sent her to the desert. She was lost and alone

The next night, the prince came and called out "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, Let down your hair." The witch let down the long hair and the prince climbed up.

The witch dropped the hair and the prince fell into thorn bushes. The thorns cut his eyes and he became blind.

He wandered in the desert and he heard Rapunzel singing

He called her and she ran to him crying happily. Her tears fell on his eyes.

The prince was able to see again

The prince and Rapunzel married and lived happily ever after.
